

October 06, 2009

Dear Parents,

September has passed and October is already upon us. The leaves are beginning to change color and the mornings have a nip in the air. Soon the children will be piling leaves in a heap and jumping in! Can't you just imagine the squeals and laughter?! Speaking of jumping, here is what your children are jumping into this week:

Numbers- recognizing numbers 1-5 and counting objects; months and days of the week; counting 31 days for this month.

Phonics – the letter O; recognizing the short vowel sounds in small words like run, cat, hop, bit, and leg. They are also learning about ants and astronauts.

Chapel – They have finished learning about creation, Adam, and Eve. Earlier this week, they finished leaning about Noah and the ark. We now begin lessons on Abraham and his nephew, Lot.

Art – tracing dotted lines and cutting with scissors.

News You Can Use

There is a slight change in the handbook regarding health and illness. Please note that if your child experiences vomiting at school (not related to choking on a piece of food), you will be called and asked to come get your child. Your child must be 24 hours without vomiting to return to GNCA.

It's Parent – Teacher Conference time! Located on the podium at the main doors (with the sign in log book), there is a sheet with available times for parent teacher conferences on Oct 16. Please choose a time that works for you. We will have preschool that day, with Mrs. Corbett directing the children's activities while Mrs. Johnson meets with the parents.

Also on the podium is a Permit to Photograph form that needs to be signed by each child's parent(s). We would like to display some pictures of the children and their activities, but need your permission to do so.

GNCA Day is Sunday, October 18 at 1100. The children will be doing a special presentation that will be a delight to all. Invite your friends and family to join us on this day!

Praying you all have a blessed week,

Mrs. Lorri Johnson, Teacher

Mrs. Mary Lynn Corbett, Director